"US FELLOWS
ON BENCH GETTING NOTHING"

Louis Wolfsberger, on Whose Farm Still Was Found, Quotes Justice Werremeyer as Making That Statement Before Calling Willmann There July 9.

SAYS JUSTICE TALKED OF A "SHOWDOWN"

He Also Asserts Sheriff Became Ill When Inspecting Liquor Plant and Depu-tized Werremeyer to Raid It That Night.

Louis Wolfsberger, a Creve Coeur farmer, the raiding of whose barn and the finding of a still there led to the filing of charges of neglect of duty against Sheriff John F. Willmann of St. Louis County, testified in a deposition at Clayton today that Justice of the Peace A. H. Werremeyer said to him July 9:

"I want to have a showdown with this fellow Willmann. He and his gang are getting it all and us fellows, on the bench are getting nothing."

Werremeyer was one of the instigators of the charges against Willmann and alleged in an affidavit that Willmann viewed the making of whisky on the farm July 9, but failed to make a raid. The place was raided a week later by Federal agents.

WHY DO YOU DRAG ME IN ON THESE ACCOMPLISHMENTS YOU DIG UP?

Wolfsberger, in his deposition today testified that Werremeyer and Deputy Sheriff Robert Goericke visited the farm about 5 p. m. July 9 and Werremeyer said to him: "We understand whisky is being made here." Werremeyer ordered him to telephone for Sheriff Willmann, he said, and there was a wait of about two hours before Willmann arrived. Wolfsberger testified that in that interval Werremeyer had several drinks of whisky on the farm and was intoxicated when Willmann arrived.

After Willmann's arrival, he said, Willmann and Werremeyer went into the barn and remained there some time. When they came out Willmann grew faint and leaned against a wagon. Wolfsberger said he heard Willmann say to Werremeyer: "I give you authority to raid this still." Further on in his testimony he quoted Willmann as saying: "I deplore you to do this place tonight."

It was agreed, Wolfsberger said, that Willmann was very sick. He was assisted to his automobile and was driven away by a man who had arrived at the farm with him. Werremeyer and Goericke remained at the farm, an hour and went into the barn several times, he said, and each carried two cans of whisky from the barn and put them in Goericke's automobile. Goericke, he said, objected to transporting the liquor, but Werremeyer said: "I will assume full responsibility for this." They then drove away with the whisky.

Tells of Renting Barn.

Wolfsberger said he rented the barn June 9 to two Italians who gave their names as Fanara and Vianca. One said he lived at 814 North Eighth street and the other at St. Louis avenue. They rented the barn for $100 cash, paying $62.50 in advance, telling him they were going to make whisky.

About three days before Werremeyer's visit, July 9, Wolfsberger testified, he smelled fermenting mash and he said to the Italians: "You had better cut it out. You are making whisky right under the Sheriff's nose." One of the Italians, he said, replied: "O, that's all right. We've got Jack fixed. Keep your head shut."

Wolfsberger testified that on the first Monday after July 9 Werremeyer called at the farm and apologized to him and his wife for the trouble he had caused and said they need not worry, as there would be no more trouble.

Under cross-examination, Wolfsberger denied that he smelled mash two weeks before Werremeyer's first visit. He said he paid $135 in June to have county water piped into his house, but did not have a pie extension to the barn. He supposed the Italians obtained water from a cistern on the farm. He denied having told Prosecuting Attorney Mueller that large quantities of whisky were hauled away from the

COWBOY FILMS ARE MAKING U. S. SICK, BERNARD SHAW SAYS

Unless Foreign Movies Are Imported, Los Angeles Will Pass Like Babylon, He Declares.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch.

LONDON, Aug. 4.—The proposed American tariff on films imported into the United States is being energetically opposed by the Incorporated Association of British Cinematograph Manufacturers. In its campaign, the association has sought the opinions of well-known writers. Bernard Shaw says:

"American audiences must be deadly sick of seeking nothing but cowboys. American sot stuff and all the rest of it. They want French films, Italian films, English films and Scandinavian films for variety. If they don't get them, the American films will drive the American public out of American picture theaters. The picture theaters will close down or take to vaudeville, and the glory of Los Angeles will pass like that of Babylon."

WHITE MOUNTAIN COUNTRY GIVES HARDING A WELCOME

Crowd Gathers in Continental Square at Lancaster, N. H., to Hear Short Address.

By the Associated Press.

LANCASTER, N. H., Aug. 4.— Lancaster and all the surrounding White Mountain country joined in a public welcome today to President Harding, who is spending the remainder of the week on vacation at Mount Prospect.

Thousands from other towns came in by automobile and train to swell the crowd that gathered in Continental Square to cheer the chief executive and hear him deliver a short response. It was arranged for him to speak without leaving the automobile and public officials planned, if possible, to spare him from shaking hands with the crowd.

President agreed to come here after a committee had called on him yesterday at the Mount Prospect Lodge of Secretary Weeks, where Mr. and Mrs. Harding are guests. Former State Senator Irving Drew headed the committee and was chairman of the welcome meeting.

FIELD MARSHAL WILSON FALLS INTO SEA AT COWES REGATTA

Goes Overboard From Yawl and Is Rescued by Two Contestants, Who Then Resume Race.

By the Associated Press.

COWES, Isle of Wight, Aug. 4.—Field Marshal Sir Henry Hughes Wilson, chief of the British imperial general staff, had a narrow escape from drowning here yesterday while following the races for small craft in the Cowes regatta. The Field Marshal was in a little yawl and a heavy sea washed him overboard. Sir Arthur S. Cope and Col. Hobart rescued the Field Marshal and placed him in a dinghy. Sir Arthur and Col. Hobart then resumed the race, in which their boats finished, respectively, second and third.

STORY OF A SICK HORSE

Animal Goes Unhanded to Hospital Where He Was Treated Before.

By the Associated Press.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 4.—William Seifken, a farmer residing four miles from Springfield, took his horse to a veterinarian a year ago when the animal was sick with colic. The horse was sick again yesterday, and Seifken called the veterinarian, Dr. A. E. Dickerson.

When Dickerson arrived at the Seifken farm, the back door was found locked off its hinges and the horse was gone. The animal was found later standing at the door of Lawrence Leahy, brother of John, $25,000; Col. John N. Strat, $50,000; Marcella A. Sangunet, $10,000; Jennie H. Sangunet, $40,000; Arthur, Laura, and Jane Harrison, $10,000 each.

The MacAdaras real estate consisted of 15 pieces in St. Louis and one piece of 70 acres in St. Louis County. All the real estate except the six pieces willed to the Leahys, he said, would have to be sold and the proceeds distributed.

In the letter attached to the codicil Mrs. MacAdaras wrote that Leahy is named as the principal defendant. He inherited the bulk of his mother's estate, as well as the large share of his aunts, his total inheritance being estimated at $1,000,000.

He was named as administrator under his mother's will and the petition filed a day ago alleged that before Mrs. Leahy death he administered the estate and exercised an undue influence over her.

The bequest to the Doyle heirs was six pieces of real estate in St. Louis, which were directed to be sold and the proceeds divided.

The petition also asks that the title to the MacAdaras real estate be determined, the real estate sold and the proceeds distributed, and that Leahy be required to make an accounting of his administration of the personal estate and that it be sold and the proceeds distributed.

DE VALERA CALLS FULL MEETING OF IRISH PARLIAMENT

Summons Issued for Session
Tuesday, Aug. 16, to Consider Britain's Proposals for Peace.

DUBLIN AND BELFAST REPORTS AT VARIANCE

Former Says Ulster Has Replied Unfavorably to Sinn Fein; Belfast Denies Receiving Communication.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Aug. 4.—The Irish situation took a sensational turn today when it was announced in Dublin that Eamonn de Valera and his associates had decided to summon a full meeting of the Irish Republican Parliament to consider the British Government's Irish peace proposals. It has been repeatedly stated in Dublin that the Dail Eireann would not be summoned until Ulster's attitude had been learned, but coincident with the calling of a meeting of this body came conflicting reports from Dublin and Belfast concerning Ulster's position.

In Dublin it is reported that Ulster has been sounded and has returned an answer unfavorable to Sinn Fein overture while in Belfast, after an uncertain meeting of the Cabinet, it was authoritatively stated that the Ulster ministry had received no communication from De Valera.

Both Reports May Be Right.

While these reports at first glance seem irreconcilable, it is pointed out that possibly both may be correct.

Official quarters in London know of no communications having been passed between De Valera and the Northern Cabinet, but it is understood from another source that Premier Lloyd George, after conferring with Sir James Craig in London this week, sent a message to De Valera, which might account for the calling of the Dail Eireann.

The Northern Cabinet already has reached a decision regarding the release of imprisoned members of the Dail Eireann.

Members who have been on the run are understood to have returned to their homes in order that they may receive their summons.

Sir James Craig left London for Belfast last night, after receiving a memorial from a large number of members of the House of Lords and of Commons, to commemorate his resignation from the lower House of Parliament to accept the Premiership of Ulster. In thanking the donors of the memorial, Sir James said nothing to enlighten them regarding Ulster's attitude.

"I am on Ireland's side," he said during his address. "I absolutely refuse to take any side except that of Great Britain and the Empire. We who must take leading parts in these difficult times would be foolish to say a single word that might interfere with the realization of peace throughout Ireland. We are all asking for peace in our own ways, but I believe it to be wise for everybody, especially the press, to say nothing in the meantime, because a slip, even a guess, sometimes creates much mischief."

Report of New Arms Unconfirmed.
Sir James emphasized this advice by example, and it is impossible to obtain from him, the less confirmation of a report that he was hastily returning to Belfast, owing to the Sinn Fein having broached negotiations with the Northern Irish government.

A dispatch indicating that it is possible that England must face a fresh Irish crisis was received today by the Daily News, from Belfast. This dispatch stated that the Government of North Ireland had definitely and finally refused to have anything to do with the Government's proposals, and had turned to a plan to bring Ulster to Ireland.

It declared that Ulster would not accept the status of a dominion for the six county areas included in the Northern Irish government's jurisdiction, either as a unit or as a state in an Irish federation, and said that Northern Ireland would decline altogether to negotiate with the southern part of the country upon the basis of the memorandum sent to Sir James Craig, the Ulster Premier by the British cabinet.

Irish Republican Parliament Called to Meet Aug. 16.

By the Associated Press.
DUBLIN, Aug. 4.—The Irish Republican Parliament has been summoned to meet Tuesday, Aug. 16, the Irish Bulletin, official Republican organ, reported tonight. Notices have been sent to all the members of the Parliament.

It is reported the reply of Ulster to overtures by the Sinn Fein has been received, and is not favorable.

The call for the meeting of the parliament, with all members present, involves the release from prison of 35 members of this body, and it has been declared the Government is willing to facilitate their attendance.

DIFFICULTIES IN MAKING SEPARATE GERMAN PEACE

Administration Trying to

FALLS BACK UPON ARMISTICE TERMS

New Pact With Germany Ending State of War to Amount Only to Treaty of Amity and Commerce.

By DAVID LAWRENCE.
A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
(Copyright, 1921.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—The administration, as is known, is working out a separate treaty of peace with Germany. The treaty of Versailles will not be submitted to the Senate with or without reservations. The new pact with Germany will be a peace treaty only in the sense that it will formally end the state of war between the United States and Germany but it will really amount to a treaty of amity and commerce.

This is taken in Washington to mean that the League of Nations, the body which interprets the Versailles treaty has in effect said that it will not claim jurisdiction over Germany in connection with the first meeting of the league and will look to the principal allied and associated Powers for decisions on those points.

This statement represents a development in the most complex legal controversy that has ever faced the Government and if they seem to contradict expectations of the past they must be taken as the latest turn in a negotiation which has required our officials to turn from one expedient to another since the rejection of the League of Nations, to put an end to the state of war between Germany and the United States.

Administration Attitude.
The administration claims the rights given the United States under the Versailles treaty, but not by virtue of an American President's signature at Paris, but because of America's signature to the terms of the armistice, which symbolizes America's participation in the war. The administration doesn't care Germany to do anything and doesn't ask the allies to concede anything. The program of the Harding administration is based upon the broad assumption that when Germany bestowed all her rights and properties upon her conquerors she made an "individual grant."

That grant was made to the principal allied and associated Powers. The United States was one of the principal allied and associated Powers. In the Supreme Council henceforth will America raise all questions which may relate to mandates or rights which other Powers claim under the Versailles pact.

Administration Preference.

Instead of a treaty with Germany formalized in the League of Nations in the United States, the administration prefers to consider that the rights already vested in the principal allied and associated Powers and that nothing more need to be done about that until a specific dispute arises.

This is said to explain to some extent why President Harding ordered Ambassador Harvey to represent the United States on the Supreme Council, which is composed exactly of the principal allied and associated Powers. In the Supreme Council henceforth will America raise all questions which may relate to mandates or rights which other Powers claim under the Versailles pact.

Instead of a treaty with Germany formalized in the League of Nations in the United States, the administration prefers to consider that the rights already vested in the principal allied and associated Powers and that nothing more need to be done about that until a specific dispute arises.

The administration holds that act as irrevocable and final, no matter whether the treaty of Versailles was ratified or not. Since the administration has decided to stand on that ground, it is held that it isn't necessary to ask the allies to agree to the principles. Secretary Hughes announced the doctrine early in the Harding administration when he insisted in a formal note to all the Powers that America derives her rights not out of any treaty but out of her participation in the war. He stated this principle in the Yap case and virtually all the Powers have acquiesced in that position, though it is true their acquiescence is not specifically directed and may yet be the basis for varying interpretations.

The administration has noticed the allies of the kind of a treaty she is negotiating with Germany, as a matter of courtesy.

Doctrine of Prior Rights.

As for the allies, however, the big question remains as to whether they have or have not accepted the doctrine of prior rights of victorious countries.

BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY TO APPEAL TO U. S. SUPREME COURT

Case Grew Out of Efforts to Enjoin
State Service Body in Matter of Rates and Values.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Aug. 4.—The Supreme Court en banc today granted an application of attorneys for the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. for a writ of error upon which to appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States in an effort to enjoin the Missouri Public Service Commission in the matter of rates valuation and service charges.

The Commission won a complete victory in the State Supreme Court in opinions by Judge Walker and Judge Graves in which the right of the commission to reduce wartime rates, abolish service charges, or allow them and fix a valuation based upon actual investment judiciously named.

About $24,000 in disputed charges collected by the company from its patrons is impounded in the Central Missouri Trust Co., here and probably will remain there until final adjudication of the case, together with additional collections made up to that time.

Preparation of a transcript of the record of the case was begun today by the clerk of the Supreme Court and is expected to comprise about three thousand pages.

possession growing out of the armistice.

A certain communication sent by the Council of the League of Nations, long ago gives a clue to the attitude of the Powers. The council was asked to consider the question of mandates, particularly the Yap mandate. The council decided that inasmuch as the allocation of mandates took place before the league was born, it behoves the principal allied and associated Powers to settle the dispute first.

This is taken in Washington to mean that the League of Nations, the body which interprets the Versailles treaty has in effect said that it will not claim jurisdiction over Germany in connection with the first meeting of the league and will look to the principal allied and associated Powers for decisions on those points.

Bank Expected $40,000.

Hai Stuckey, cashier of the First State and Savings Bank of Wood River, said his bank was to have received $40,000 in currency from the Federal Reserve Bank on one of the two trains that came in this morning, and that a check of all the mail failed to disclose the shipment. He expressed the opinion that the $40,000, which he said was for the Standard Oil payroll, had been stolen by the robbers.

At the First National Bank of Wood River it was said that possibly $26,000 consigned to that bank was in the same pouch with the other money. The First National Bank was to use that and other money to cash the paper checks of some Standard Oil employees.

Another mail sack, which had been cut open, was found this afternoon about a mile west from where the other sack was picked up this morning. Some packages remained in the second sack, which was ordered to the post office in Edwardsville.

Car Escapes Observation.

The robbers escaped from Wood River over a winding and unoccupied road that runs southward to Edwardsville. At a place near where they abandoned the automobile a gang of road workers passed in a large truck about 3 o'clock. The road workers said later they did not see the robbers or the abandoned machine.

Policemen with riot guns went from Granite City this afternoon to aid the Sheriff in his search of the Peters neighborhood. Federal inspectors and railroad agents also went to the scene.

David C. Biggs, governor of the Federal Reserve Bank, would make no statement concerning the amount of the missing money would be found at the residence of J. E. Chambers, and this amount. Inspector Johnsons, his men recovered yesterday. Other sums, according to the statement, were used to cover a deficit in Miss Clarke's accounts. Chambers is Miss Clarke's grandfather, with whom she resided.

Hays Recently Said Mail Robberies Had Practically Ceased.

A statement by Postmaster-General Hays on mail robberies appeared in the July 30 issue of the Postal Bulletin, published in Washington. It said:

"The Postoffice inspection force has rendered a very definite public service in apprehending criminals and recovering stolen money in connection with the numerous mail robberies which happened between April 1920, and May 1, 1921. During that period there were 36 cases of mail robbery, and the value of the mail known to have been amounted to over $6,000,000, over half of which has been recovered. There have been 126 persons arrested in connection with these robberies. 34 have been convicted, 15 discharged and acquitted, and 77 pending prosecutions.

"Since May 1, when arrangements were made with the War Department to arm large numbers of the postal employees and a standing reward of $5,000 was offered by the Postoffice Department to anyone bringing in a mail robber, these crimes against the postal service have practically ceased."

Body of Aged Woman Found in River.

Word was received today by David Kreyling of 6620 Michigan avenue, that the body of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Amelia Giegling, 72 years old, who was reported missing July 23, was recovered from the Mississippi River at Festus, Mo., a point 29 miles below St. Louis. Residents of Festus who recovered the body wrote to Kreyling after reading in newspapers of his mother-in-law's disappearance. Kreyling went to Festus and identified the body.

Woman Says Cibrario

COMMERCIAL AGENT'S EXPLANATION WANTED

Prosecutor Would Like to Know Why It Was Easy
for Russian Movie Agent to Draw on $1,000,000
Fund.

By Leased Wire From the New York
Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—William Chapin Huntington, an attaché of the United States Department of Commerce, recently assigned as commercial attaché to the American embassy in London, was the object of a search yesterday by Assistant District Attorney Simmons for a talk about the extraordinary case of Jacques Roberto Cibrario, who is scheduled to appear in Tombs Court today for a preliminary examination into the charges that he looted a $1,- 000,000 Russian soviet fund on deposit in the National City Bank.

A new development in the Cibrario case was the discovery of two suits, in the Supreme Court and Municipal Court, brought against the dashing young Italian head of 12 corporations by a Philadelphia young woman.

Dr. Huntington, as commercial attache of the American embassy in Moscow, was the intermediary through whom the $1,000,000 was transferred from the Soviet Commission of Education of Moscow to the State Department in Washington and deposited in the National City Bank with contracts calling for its disbursement on presentation of documentary evidence that motion picture apparatus and film purchased by Cibrario as agent for the soviet government had been delivered at warehouses here.

Information Is Wanted.

The District Attorney's office wishes to ask Dr. Huntington about the circumstances under which the $1,- 000,000 fund was made so easily accessible to Cibrario in the National City Bank after the final break in the relations between this Government and the Government of Soviet Russia.

Following is the record of activity in the quest for Dr. Huntington and his knowledge of the case:

Miss Rose Weiss, attorney for the Soviet and complainant against Cibrario, talked with Dr. Huntington, who was then at the New York headquarters of the Department of Commerce in the Customs House, asking for an interview. Dr. Huntington is quoted by Miss Weiss as declining under any circumstances to see her and with announcing his purpose of sailing for Europe this but declined.

Cibrario Keeps Silent.

Cibrario saw the Post-Dispatch representative in the offices where he directs the affairs of his 12 corporations at Forty-eighth street and Seventh avenue yesterday. He refused to discuss the suits of Miss Weiss. When he was advised by his counsel, he was committed to a policy of complete silence toward the charges that he looted the $1,000,000
soviet fund in the National City Bank.

"I was quoted," he continued, "as saying that my arrest was due to an irresponsible agent of an irresponsible government. I wish to correct that. I did not say it."

He said generally that he expected to emerge from the proceedings in the Tombs today "with flying colors."

C. J. Fox Funeral Tomorrow.

Funeral services for Charles J.
Fox, an attorney, who died yesterday at his home, 927 Laurel street, after a three weeks' illness with typhoid fever, will be held at 10 a.m.
tomorrow from the residence to St.
Rose's Catholic Church. Fox was the son of the late Robert Fox of 5129 Kensington avenue, and a nephew of the late Judge Daniel Dillon. He was a member of the Municipal Nurses' Board, and of the American, Missouri and St. Louis Bar Associations.

Story Philadelphia Girl Tells.

Miss Yolande Rovelli, 18 years old, of Philadelphia, is plaintiff in the suits filed in the Supreme Court and in the Municipal Court. In the complaint affidavit, Miss Rovelli charges Cibrario induced her to leave her position in Philadelphia on the pretext of employing her in New York, but that in reality she was brought to this city not for the purpose of being employed but for immoral purposes."

At Bridgeton, N. J., where the Post-Dispatch representative found her yesterday, Miss Rovelli said Cibrario was in Philadelphia to meet his sister who was to arrive from Paris for a visit and that he introduced himself to her as "Count."

Jacques Cibrario, by which name he is also known to hundreds in and about Broadway.

She said she was promised a position here at $20 a week, first as companion to Miss Cibrario, and later she was to be developed by the Italian into a "famous moving picture star."

400 VOICES IN CHOIR FOR CARUSO FUNERAL

Last Requiem in Italy at Church of San Francisco di Paoli,
by King's Direction.

By the Associated Press.
NAPLES, Aug. 4.—Patrician and plebian Naples gathered early today at the basilica of the Church of San Francisco di Paoli, in anticipation of witnessing the funeral of Enrico Caruso, the world-famous tenor, who died here on Tuesday. The edifice, situated in the southern part of the city, near the hotel, where the great singer breathed his last, was decided upon as the last scene in the drama of the tenor's life late yesterday, after King Victor Emmanuel had given permission that it might be used for this purpose.

As soon as word reached Naples that the basilica had been set apart for the funeral, workmen were engaged to construct a great platform to accommodate the 400 singers selected to assist in the last requiem.
In the center of the catafalque was erected a large catafalque for the Official at Funeral.

Representatives of the King and royal family, the Italian Government, the municipality and the prefecture were appointed to attend the services and the United States, in which country Caruso rose to his greatest triumphs in the lyric art, had instructed officials to appear at the funeral.

The crowds which on Tuesday filled before the bier of the dead singer were eclipsed yesterday, when thousands gathered at the Hotel Vesuvius to pay their last respects to Caruso. A large throng of negroes which descended on the church to view the body from the death chamber to the hall of the hotel, which was changed for the occasion into a chapel. About the body were placed flowers sent by friends and admirers of the dead man, and the hall was transformed by them into a bower of exquisite beauty.

Titta Ruffo, the Italian baritone, who has in recent years achieved fame in America, arrived during the day, and hastened to the hotel. He was an intimate friend of Caruso and insisted upon helping to transfer the body to the temporary chapel.
Property Sequestered.

Mr. Caruso has made formal application to the Foreign Minister, to the Italian Ambassador at Washington, to have his body removed to the New York residence of the late singer, pending a decision regarding the disposition of his estate. It has been reported the Court here has decided to sequester all of Caruso's property until Mrs. Caruso's claims in behalf of her daughter are adjudicated.

The District Judge of this city, upon request of Mrs. Caruso, has seized the apartment occupied by the dead tenor in the Hotel Vesuvius.
This step was taken to safeguard
Caruso's documents and other effects.

It is reported here that Caruso dreaded some years ago, before becoming tenor, to his estate according to Italian legal procedure, to his brother and two sons. In the meantime, he was married in the United States, and the birth of his daughter, Gloria, brought a new element into the situation. She, according to Italian law, is now the only legal heir, except for a fraction of the estate, which the law grants to the widow.

New York Notary Tells of WI-DRAWN FOR CARUSO.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—According to a will which Constantino J. Spero, a notary, said he drew up for Enrico Caruso some time ago, the bulk of the tenor's estate was to be divided equally upon his death among his six nearest relatives. They are the tenor's widow, who was Dorothy Park Benjamin; their daughter, Gloria; his two sons by a previous marriage, Rudolfo and Enrico, his brother, Giovannini, and his stepmother.

"Caruso spent his earnings like wildfire," Spero said. "He never got more than $2500 a performance for singing at the opera here. I know, because I always saw the checks. He never refused the appeal for aid from a fellow countryman. He had lots of appeals and always appeared them with $100 ills. His income tax in 1919 was $170,000. Last year it was $165,-

The exterior of the Metropolitan Opera House, where Caruso was a leading tenor for 18 seasons, is draped in heavy mourning as a mark of sorrow brought by the death of the noted singer. The black drapes will remain on the Opera House for 30 days.

A memorial mass for Caruso was said yesterday in the Church of Our Lady of Loretto by the pastor, Pa-ther Joseph Silipigni.

IN AUTO ACCIDENTTwo Women and Several Children Among Those Hurt—
Drivers Arrested in Some Cases.

Nine persons were injured in automobile accidents yesterday.

Richard Herman, 9 years old, of 2722 Allen avenue was internally injured at noon when he was struck by an automobile driven by Thomas H. Flanagan of 4144A Flad avenue, a broker, on Lafayette avenue near California avenue. The boy was taken to his home. Flanagan told the police the boy ran from behind another automobile directly in the path of his machine.

Evert Collins, 25 years old, of 2818 Russell avenue, was thrown from a motor cycle he was riding in collision with an automobile driven by Benjamin F. Day of 3227 North Taylor avenue at Grand avenue and Langholz boulevard at 2 p.m. He suffered injuries to the back, knees and right hip. He was taken to his home.

Injured by Toy Wagon.

Edwin Stevens, 15, of 2210 North Fifteenth street, was cut and bruised at 6:30 p.m. when he was struck by a toy wagon which had been struck by an automobile driven by William F. Stein of 1534 North Fifteenth street, a plumber, at Twelfth and Clinton streets. The boy was playing near the wagon which was in the street at the time. He was taken to his home. Stein was arrested. The police reported he had no State or city license for the machine he was driving.

Edgar Ely, 9, of 2024A Mallinckrodt street, ran from behind a street car into the path of an automobile driven by Carl Seckel, 3529 North Broadway, and was knocked down at Eleventh and Salisbury streets at 8 p.m. He suffered scalp wounds and cuts and bruises.

Florence Kramer, 12, of 5233A Blair avenue, after alighting from a car at Broadway and College avenue, was struck by an automobile driven by Joseph Randazzo of 803 Carr street at 7:30 p.m. Her right leg was fractured and she suffered a scalp wound. Randazzo was arrested.

Woman and Son Hurt.

Mrs. Margaret Schwartz, of 508 Laurel avenue and her son, Irving, 3 years old, were cut and bruised when an automobile operated by the mother collided with an automobile driven by Fred Brain of 3510 Utah street, in front of 5305 Delmar boulevard, at 2 p.m.

Hilda Hauman of 2822 Pestalozzi street, alighting from a street car at Gravois avenue and Delor street was struck by an automobile driven by William Bell of 2814 Neosho street, suffering lacerations of both legs and scalp wounds at 1 p.m. She was taken to her home. Bell was arrested for passing a street car while discharging passengers.

Edward Harrison, 33, of 3705A Chouteau avenue, a negro, suffered a fractured skull and internal injuries last evening when he was hit by a motor truck driven by Felix Gillon, 2913 North Fourteenth street, as Harrison alighted from a truck in front of 5400 Natural Bridge road. He was taken to city hospital No. 2.

WEST PINE RESIDENCE BOUGHT
FOR CLUBHOUSE FOR VETERANSProperty at 3737 Acquired for $11,000 of the Tag Day Receipts of $23,207.08.

The disabled veterans of the world war will occupy next month a 12-room clubhouse which was bought for them yesterday with part of the proceeds of the tag day for disabled veterans which was held here June 7. Hundreds of women who had done war work of various kinds sold tags that day and the total sum realized, it was announced today, was $23,207.08.

The women's organization paid $11,000 for the clubhouse, buying it from Meyer Bauman. Possession will be had on Sept. 1 and the place will be repaired and decorated soon thereafter. The balance from the tag day fund will go into a trust fund for the maintenance of the place.

There are about 1800 members of the Disabled Veterans of the World War. Thomas L. Martin Jr. is president. The clubhouse will not be used for living quarters, but will resemble in usage the Soldiers', Sailors' and Marines' clubs which were maintained in the Post-Dispatch building and elsewhere in the city during the war. A citizens' advisory committee to aid in the maintenance of the clubhouse has been formed, including representatives of many civic organizations headed by Mayor Kiel and President Carter of the Chamber of Commerce.

The August Sales Bring Remarkable Values

Advance Season Suits Are Doubly Intriguing at $35

If you are among the lucky who are preparing to hie themselves northward, westward, anywhere—breezeward—you are perhaps at this instant mentally reviewing the service qualities of your worn Spring Suit, trying hard to overlook the "I've been worn a season" attitude which it limply but surely proclaims.

Enough! New Suits, brand-new Fall styles, trim long coats, svelte and wearable—all yours for thirty-five dollars—just because we went Suit buying early and chose with a definite notion of providing you with an early Fall suit at the smallest possible sum.

Remnant Sale of Laces and Embroideries

A LENGTH of lace, an odd shaped medallion, a frill of embroidery will always be in demand so long as women hold their sway. The end of a particularly popular season for laces finds on hand a great stock of odd lengths to be keenly coveted by individuals, but undesirable from our point of view.

Consequently we group them and present them in a sale wherein the prices quoted are in no way comparable to those usually placed on similar merchandise.

Group 1

Lengths of 1/4 to 3 Yds., at 10c to 49c Length.
Val Laces and Insertions and Galoons.
Linen and cotton Cluny Laces.
Camisole Laces.
Filet Crochets.
White, cream, and colored Venise Laces.

Group 2

Lengths of 1/2 to 4 Yds., at 89c to $1.98 Length.
40-inch Colored Dress Nets.
Georgette Chantilly Laces.
Wide Venise Bands and Edges.
Net Laces.
Novelty Laces.
Ruffled Net Vesting and Collar Edges.

Group 3

$2.49 to $4.98 Length.
Embroidered Georgette Flouncing and Allovers.
36-inch Filet Flouncing.
Radium Flouncing and Allover.
Emb. Silk Net Flouting.

Philippine Lingerie Our Entire Stock at 25% Discount

ORPHANAGE TEACHER TRIED FOR WHIPPING A BOY

Member of Evangelical Staff at Benenville, Ill., Accused; Laid Fainted in German Lesson.

By the Associated Press
AURORA, Ill., Aug. 4.—The Rev. Adolph Misch of the staff of the Evangelical Old People's Home and Orphanage at Benenville, was tried here yesterday for whipping Charles Haars, 10 years old. The charge was assault and battery and it was asserted Misch fanned the boy and tore his ear for not learning a German lesson.

The Rev. Mr. Misch denied he had beaten the boy, but said he had administered a light whipping.

He called the boy "bad." The whipping in question, he said, was for killing a cat, breaking a window and loosening a lock on the school house.

The Rev. Mr. Misch's resignation was accepted last night.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, Aug. 4—Speaker O'Fallon announced today that he had appointed Representatives from Howard County and McPherson of St. Joseph, to act with Adjutant-General Raupp and Senators Lysaght of St. Joseph and Proctor of Kansas City to represent the State in entertaining foreign military dignitaries who are coming to Missouri to participate in the American Legion convention in Kansas City in October. The Legislature appropriated $7,500 to meet the expenses of this entertainment.

$20 Allowance for Your Old Machine

If You Buy a

Western Electric Portable Sewing Machine

This unusual offer certainly makes it easy for you to get rid of the tiresome hard work of sewing by foot-power.

Besides allowing you $20 for your old machine, we'll grant you convenient payment terms on the balance.

The Western Electric Machine, as illustrated, is a lock - stitch rotary model. You can do any kind of sewing on it—and quicker than on a foot-power machine.

Soukup said members of the gang had offered moonshine whisky for sale.

Rokuta, who bought some of it through fear, but did not drink.

He said Rokuta told him he threw the whisky away, fearing that it might be drugged.

The robbery theory was weakened by Soukup's assertions as to Rokuta's financial condition.

The police had learned that Rokuta drew $900 from a bank recently and they thought this might have been stolen by the murderers.

Soukup said Rokuta, immediately after drawing this money, paid it as a balance on the purchase of his shop.

The Coroner's inquest in the case was continued today until tomorrow to permit further investigation.

Ford's Road Refiles Rate Cut.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—Henry

Ford's Toledo, Detroit & Irondequoit

Roads has filed again the tariff reducing by 20 per cent rates on shoes from Sibley, Mich., to Detroit, which was rejected by the Interstate Commerce Commission Tuesday.

It has now been filed properly

Creditors Would Hold American Ship.
By the Associated Press
NAPLES, Aug. 4.—The American steamer Pocahontas, which arrived here on July 4 in a damaged condition, alleged to have been due to acts of members of her crew, is scheduled to sail for New York today, but it seems improbable that she will depart. The ship has been repaired and creditors want the claim held until claims are settled.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Aug. 4.—Col. William R. Berger, 74 years old, founder of the University of New Mexico, and its secretary for 25 years, died at Belen, yesterday. He was a pioneer editor and attorney in the State and prominent in G. A. R. and Lodge circles.

WANT HIGHWAY BOARD MEMBER

Claims of St. Louis to Member of Commission Presented to Hyde.

A request that St. Louis be given a representative on the State Highway Commission to be created under the roads bill passed by the special session of the Legislature has been sent to Gov. Hyde by W. Frank Carter, president of the Chamber of Commerce. The Governor, during a visit to St. Louis yesterday, said that he would appoint the four members of the commission within the next 10 days.

Carter declares that this city is entitled to a representative because the pre-election campaign for passage of the $60,000,000 bond issue was financed largely in this city and because this city will contribute a very great share of the principal and interest on the bonds.

AMERIKA MANAGER ARRESTED

Printer at Whom He Is Alleged to Have Shot Also Taken.

Eugen Sartorius, 35 years old, of Eugen Sartorius, a German publication with offices at Sixth and Walnut streets, and Joseph J. Zitzman, 32, of 3232 Texas avenue, a printer, were arrested at 1:15 a. m. today near the office after Sartorius is said to have fired a shot from a revolver at the printer in the office of the paper and then chased the printer into the street.

The detectives were standing near the corner when they heard the shot and shortly thereafter saw Zitzman run out of the office, pursued by Sartorius, who had the revolver in his hand. He was disarmed and both men locked up, charged with disturbing the peace.

RESERVE GOVERNOR AND WILLIAMS IN CLASH AT HEARING

Harding Rushes at Former Comptroller With Fist
Raised, but Is Stopped
Before Making Attack.

CHARGES FALSE

WILLIAMS SHOUTS

Gov. Strong of New York
Bank Draws Fire at Committee Session Hearing
Criticisms of Policies.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—Criticism of Federal Reserve System credit policies which was continued yesterday before a congressional commission by John Skelton Williams, former Comptroller of the Currency, aroused resentment on the part of the system's two highest officers, Gov. Harding of the Reserve Board and Gov. Strong of the New York Reserve Bank. In one of the frequent verbal interchanges, Gov. Harding charged across the committee room, swinging his fist, but was halted by struggling associates just in front of his adversary, who remained cool, but was rising for the threatened encounter.

A few minutes later Strong, while reading to the commission a report which charged Williams with "false and misleading statements," was interrupted by the former Comptroller, who shouted: "That statement of yours is false."

"Gov. Strong, however, continued reading, and presently referred to Williams of being "jealous of his prerogatives."

"And that's a lie, too," the latter interjected.

Motion to Require Oath.

"At this point, I request the committee to require the Comptroller to make oath, whether he has stated the whole truth or not," Gov. Strong exclaimed.

Chairman Strong ruled amid the confusion that it was "not feasible to adopt the policy at this stage of the game."

Both Federal Reserve officials, with a number of associates, had sat apparently unmoved during two days, along with an audience which included many Senators and Representatives allied with the "agricultural bloc." In Congress, while Williams elaborated three general charges, he said first that the board had countenanced undue lendings to a New York banking group during the last two years, for speculative uses, while forcing liquidation in Southern and Western agricultural districts, and that it had allowed extortionate interest charges, and generally failed to "ease down" inflation.

Gov. Harding yesterday rose out of the audience and demanded a hearing on personal grounds, to deny allegations concerning himself, as Williams had made them, and presently, with Gov. Strong, produced from the confidential files of the Reserve Board's offices correspondence and reports to combat Williams' criticisms.

Letter to Williams Read.

To answer letters and memoran-dums read by Williams and which he said he had sent to his associates in the Reserve Board during 1920 and 1921, protesting against their policy and course, Gov. Harding demanded and received permission to read a single letter of response which the board made to Williams in 1921.

The Federal Reserve Board feels constrained to say," the letter said, "that your action . . . has demonstrated the futility of discussions with you on questions of honor or fair play."

Williams' criticisms of the board's handling of credit problems as contained in the correspondence and repeated to the congressional commission were "ignorant, inaccurate and misleading."

"The object seems to have been merely to make a record during your tenure of office of statements to be handed to the public later," the letter said in part, "as an appeal to prejudices and sympathies and not to reason." The Harding letter further said that Williams' criticisms generally were "trivial, irrelevant or susceptible of no definite constructive interpretation," and added that "a failure to comply with you cannot be said to be a failure to challenge your statements."

Reference to Lending.

As to the criticism of lending to New York banks, the Harding letter said that Williams "had discussed mass of details and statements" forwarded by Williams. It had been "impossible for the board to understand what action" he desired taken. The letter said also that out of 80 meetings of the board preceding Williams' retirement from office, he had "attended 18 during their entire time, 12 during a part of the time and during 44 was absent entirely."

It was charged also that Williams had circulated the board's letters on credit matters and refused to tell the board to what person or persons they had been sent.

The reading of the letter resulted in a remark from Williams about "polon gas, and retorts in which Gov. Harding asserted his own desire during all of the preceding contraversy within the board to settle mat-

BEER SEIZURE PROMPTS INQUIRY INTO BREWERY

Murphysboro, Ill., Plant to Be Investigated Following Capture of 30,000 Bottles.

Following the confiscation yesterday in the Terminal yards of a freight car, which contained 30,000 bottles of beer, said by Prohibition Enforcement Agent Hoover to contain alcohol in excess of 4 per cent, Hoover today asked M. C. Kiggins, agent in charge of the East St. Louis force, to confer with him with a view to going to Murphysboro, Ill., to investigate the Stecker Brewery.

John Matallas and Peter Dallas, both of West Frankfort, Ill., who were arrested by Hoover and his assistants when they appeared in the Terminal yards at Sixteenth and Poplar streets to claim the carload of beer, made signed statements yesterday in which they told Hoover the beverage was purchased at Murphysboro.

Matallas admitted that he financed the enterprise, paying $1500 for the beer and having it shipped to St. Louis.

Warrants Issued for Pair.

Warrants charging transportation and possession of the beer in violation of the Volstead act provisions were issued late yesterday against Matallas and Dallas by John C. Dyott, special assistant to the Attorney-General, in charge of prosecutions of liquor law violations.

The arrests of the men and the seizure of the beer followed a watch of several days of Matallas and Dallas' movements and the arrival of the car of beer in the yards Tuesday evening.

Matallas said he had come here last Friday to take orders from local saloon keepers for purchases of the beer and to be here to receive the shipment when it arrived. He told Hoover the beer had been shipped by J. A. Lamplink, an attorney of West Frankfort, consigned to himself and Joseph Moore, also of West Frankfort. Moore had been in St. Louis helping to sell the beer, he said, but had returned to his home before the carload arrived.

Bills of Lading Obtained.

Bills of lading for the shipment were obtained from the Illinois Central freight offices by Hoover, and they showed shipment of the car from Christopher, Ill., by Lamplink, and consignment to Moore and Matallas.

Matallas said the shipment which was confiscated here was the first he had had any connection with, but declared many other such shipments had been made recently from Murphysboro.

FORD AND ROCKEFELLER ASKED TO BUY COLORADO ROAD BONDS

State Treasurer Says Good Roads Will Help Sale of Autos and Gasoline.

By the Associated Press.

DENVER, Colo., Aug. 4.—Henry Ford, Detroit automobile manufacturer, and John D. Rockefeller, oil king, were asked yesterday by State Treasurer Arthur M. Stong to purchase $2,000,000 worth of highway bonds of the State of Colorado upon his representation that it "will increase the sale of Mr. Ford's automobiles and the consumption of Mr. Rockefeller's oil and gasoline if the roads of the State can be maintained in such shape as to encourage automobile traffic."

Brokers declined to bid because a State law provides that the bonds cannot be sold below par.

MEMBERS OF FAMILY THROWN FROM BEDS BY BOMB BLAST

Explosion in Hallway at 1440 North Fourteenth Shatters Windows and Causes Excitement.

Nicholas Palazzolo of 1440 North Fourteenth street and members of his family were thrown from their beds at 1:30 a. m. today when a bomb was thrown into the hallway adjacent to the front entrance of their home. The explosion shattered windows in the home and in adjoining property, the damage being estimated at $100.

Palazzolo said he had received no threatening letters. During the excitement a neighbor fired a revolver to attract the police.

Gov. Strong read extracts from an official confidential report made to the board by him on the New York banking system. It referred to Williams as "ignorant and misleading," and accused him of "violations of procedure and dishonesty to his associates."

Strong Tries to Collateral.

One New York bank, which Williams said, held $130,000,000 in Federal Reserve loans, Gov. Strong declared, held also $112,000,000 in Government securities, adding that "most of its loans were made to carry purchases during the war, while it was lending $18,000,000, directly or indirectly, to its own officers. Gov. Strong said, it held $15,000,000 in Liberty bonds as collateral, and additional securities as well."

Williams charged that 30 per cent interest rates in New York money markets meant the starving of farming districts.

"Had the Comptroller understood the workings of the Reserve system," Gov. Strong responded, "he would have understood those rates resulted from the constant withdrawal of funds from New York to send to other sections of the country."

"Much of the credit pressure resulted from organized movements from various parts of the country," Strong continued, "to withhold commodities from their usual markets."

"A general denial is hardly an effectual answer to specific charges and complaints," Williams said, when his turn came again, and later he expressed the opinion that the New York bank, dealing with "re-passed money out with prodigality" during periods when borrowers elsewhere were being restricted. He concluded his two-day discussion with observations that "there never had been the currency inflation in this country some people believed," that there was "present improvement from the lowering of interest rates," and that "farmers are entitled to get through the Reserve system, nine months' credits on warehouse certificates for their produce, though dealers and profiteers should be restricted."

"TIZ" FOR TIRED OR ACHING FEET

Just put those weary, shoe-crinkled, aching, burning feet into a Tiz bath. Tiz is grand, glorious for tortured feet. It draws the swelling and poisonous exudations right out. Stops the pain of corns. Ends torture and puts your feet into perfect condition.

Your shoes won't seem tight and your feet will never hurt or get sore and swollen. Think of it, no more foot misery—and you will wear smaller shoes. Get a box of Tiz at any drug store and get instant relief for a few cents.

Bills of Lading Obtained.
Bills of lading for the shipment were obtained from the Illinois Central freight offices by Hoover, and they showed shipment of the car from Christopher, Ill., by Lamplink, and consignment to Moore and Matallas.

Matallas said the shipment which was confiscated here was the first he had had any connection with, but declared many other such shipments had been made recently from Murphysboro.

FORD AND ROCKEFELLER ASKED TO BUY COLORADO ROAD BONDS

State Treasurer Says Good Roads Will Help Sale of Autos and Gasoline.

By the Associated Press.

DENVER, Colo., Aug. 4.—Henry Ford, Detroit automobile manufacturer, and John D. Rockefeller, oil king, were asked yesterday by State Treasurer Arthur M. Stong to purchase $2,000,000 worth of highway bonds of the State of Colorado upon his representation that it "will increase the sale of Mr. Ford's automobiles and the consumption of Mr. Rockefeller's oil and gasoline if the roads of the State can be maintained in such shape as to encourage automobile traffic."

Brokers declined to bid because a State law provides that the bonds cannot be sold below par.

Physician Also Said to Have Asked Missourian Woman $2000 for "Radium Treatments" for Heart Trouble.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MOBERLY, Mo., Aug. 4.—A charge of $1000 for seven drops of eye medicine and $2000 for the privilege of wearing four sacks of "radium treatment" pinned to her waist constituted the alleged swindle of which Miss Augusta Smith, who lives with her sister on a farm east of Cairo, was the victim.

According to the prosecuting attorney, the sisters paid $321 of the $1000 charged for the eye medicine, and were attempting to borrow $2000 for the "radium treatment" when officers became suspicious and investigated.

On July 19, it is said, a Dr. Kreschlin placed seven drops of a liquid in Miss Augusta's eyes. She declares he charged her $1000 and collected at the time $431, and said the sisters had. Later a man named Hood collected $300 for the physician.

Then Dr. Kreschlin told Miss Augusta she was suffering from heart trouble and recommended "radium treatment." He produced four pieces of metal and directed her to wear them on her clothing and said her heart trouble would disappear in six months.

Kreschlin is under $3000 bail.

PRODUCTS COMPANY MANAGER ARRESTED AS AUTO THIEF

Chicago Man Said to Have Used Job Successfully as Shield for Long Time.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—His position as Chicago manager of the Pratt Products Co. of Hammond, Ind., is declared by the police to have been used as shield by J. Walter Keller behind which he carried on the role of automobile thief so successfully that he was enabled to maintain himself and family in a $1000 a year apartment when his legitimate income was but $500.

Keller was arrested here Tuesday when, according to the police, he was caught in the act of stealing an automobile.

When captured Keller is said to have been removing a steering wheel from a car which was locked and substituting one of his own. The police claim to have traced 10 stolen cars to Keller, two of them having been recovered. He is being held pending further investigation.

TIME GRANTED TO DIRECTORS

A 60-day extension of time in which to meet approximately $3,000 of a total of $64,000 outstanding indebtedness was granted yesterday to the new board of directors for the Mother Goose Candy Shop at Seventh and Olive streets.

The new board recently took over management of the store from W. L. Schaeffer, a stock broker, who promoted the concern. Orla M. Hill, in stating the condition of the company to creditors at a conference yesterday, said that a "leakage" of $100,000 had occurred since the store was opened last December.

There are about 1300 stockholders in the company in St. Louis and immediate vicinity.

Charged With Making False Affidavit.

A warrant charging the making of a false affidavit was issued yesterday by the Prosecuting Attorney's office against Harry Bastas, 30 years old, of 722 Hamilton avenue, George Lazarus, 2448 Washington avenue, purchaser of a candy store business at 553 Delmar boulevard, for $2600, alleged that Bastas, from whom he purchased the business, declared the outstanding debts of the business to be $900, whereas they were about $1500.

Mortgage for $10,937 on $23,000 Tract Rotary Club Gave Him About to Be Foreclosed.

By the Associated Press.
KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 4.—Sergt. Alvin York of Pall Mall, Tenn., is reported as facing a foreclosure of the mortgage on his farm and at least two tentative offers to relieve him of this embarrassment have been made.

A statement of his financial conditions was made by Sergt. York himself in a letter.

"The Rotary Club of Nashville purchased a farm for me at the price of $22,000, and have paid $10,937.50, and executed three notes for the balance of the purchase price. The three unpaid notes amount to $12,062.50 net, counting the interest from the date of the same, which was Nov. 15, 1919, and are a lien on the farm to secure payment of same. The Nashville Rotary Club has paid all the money that was raised by them for the purpose of purchasing the farm, for which I am very thankful."

The first offer is that of a Memphis bank, to the end that the foreclosure would be handled through long time paper that would be accepted by the Sergent himself.

The second proposal came to the Knoxville Board of Chamber, in the nature of a letter from the Berwind White Coal Mining Co. of Philadelphia, seeking information concerning York, his reputation, religion and other data that would be considered desirable looking to the advancement of a loan to the war hero to relieve him of the obligation pressing upon him at this time.

PIGGLY WIGGLY

2nd Anniversary All Over the World 26 Stores in St. Louis

COMMON SENSE!

The least common of common things in all the world is Common Sense. That is why the first impression of PIGGLY WIGGLY system was that it was something out of the ordinary—because it was the first application of Common Sense to the grocery business. It is so simple—so plain—that even a child can understand why this method furnishes the best at the lowest prices and through this applied Common Sense learns thrift and economy. It pays to help yourself and pay less at PIGGLY WIGGLY.

The goods, the prices, as indicated on the swinging price tags, the orderly arrangement, the cleanliness of the stores, speak for themselves.

Concrete facts as expressed in the PIGGLY WIGGLY plan of bringing the manufacturer, the canner, the packer and the farmer to the housewife, saving all unnecessary expense and profit, is putting money in the housewife's pocket.

An Ideal

—and its accomplishment

Since its beginning, PIGGLY WIGGLY has striven for the utmost perfection in supplying housekeepers with their table needs.

How far it has attained success can best be marked by its army of hundreds of thousands of satisfied customers, which continually increases.

PIGGLY WIGGLY offers its customers what it conscientiously believes to be the best at the lowest margin of profit.

C. Houston Goudiss, writing about PIGGLY WIGGLY in The Forecast, America's leading food magazine, says:

"Of course, it is the story of an idea. Of course, it begins with one man. One man and an idea have parented everything big that ever has been. And so long as human being is based on Eden's blessing—"In the sweat of thy brow shalt thou earn thy bread"—nothing big can be worn in any other way."

"It is the only system yet devised which in any considerable degree practically solves the problem of the high cost of living."

"It is indeed a dream—but a dream come true. For PIGGLY WIGGLY is an accomplished fact, a highly successful enterprise."

"And it is the only system of merchandising today in existence which makes real distinction between that which is useless and that which is necessary in retail food distribution."

POST-DISPATCH TO HAVE THE CABLE DISPATCHES OF THE MANCHESTER GUARDIAN

UNDER a reciprocal agreement between the Manchester Guardian on the one hand, and the St. Louis Post-Dispatch and the New York World on the other, the Post-Dispatch will hereafter have the advantage of the European news service of the Manchester Guardian, one of the greatest English newspapers.

The arrangement makes an addition of the highest importance to the foreign news service of the Post-Dispatch. The Manchester Guardian is one of the foremost European journals, and its European advices always have been regarded as authoritative.

OPPELN, Upper Silesia, Wednesday, Aug. 3.—There is considerable uneasiness in Germany that the French demand for the sending of troops to Upper Silesia and for postponing a frontier decision is due to a wish to keep the territory under French control as long as possible. Certainly the demand for the passage of French troops across Germany has been pressed with a vigor unusual in modern diplomacy.

On July 24 the French Ambassador, M. Laurent, conferred in Berlin with Chancellor Wirth and Foreign Minister Rosen. When Herr Wirth would not consent to French action independent of England and Italy, M. Laurent spoke in a manner so violent as to create the impression he had received from his colleagues that the German resistance at all costs. It is said attendants outside the conference chamber were greatly alarmed at the uproar, because they thought the representatives of the two Governments had come to blows.

The French's statement was followed by an animated discussion involving many references to the relative positions of Great Britain, the United States and Japan, and revealing the intense interest taken in the proposed Washington conference.

Winston Spencer Churchill, Secretary for the Colonies, replying in the debate for the Government, made reference to the big building programs in both the United States and Japan. He contended that there could be no conceivable cause for a quarrel with either of these countries. Still, the fact remained that if England delayed another year the construction of necessary vital units she would have to face positions of definite and perhaps final neutrality; she would sink to third nation status. France would then be obliged to keep a strong military army in the territory, and to have such an army in a region adjoining Germany and Poland would be of the greatest value.

A Russo-Polish war as well as in case of serious complications between France and Germany.

Security of Polish Border.

Poland would also gain by the arrangement for the presence of French troops in Silesia, which would be an effective guarantee of the security of Poland.

This guarantee would also allow France to reduce her military mission at Warsaw, thus greatly reducing the Polish treasury, which is in such a state of financial debility it cannot satisfy the needs of the mission.

France and Poland on the Silesian question has begun to disappear. About a week ago the French attitude was communicated by Premier Briand, a representative of the Polish Government in Paris, and according to him his statement may be summarized as follows:

"If France pursues her Polonophile policy in the coming session of the Supreme Council she will be isolated. If she tried to win any of the other allies to her view she would have to make concessions to London, Rome and perhaps even Brussels, which would undermine or even overthrow the Briand Government."

The question of concessions is also complicated because Greek victories in Asia Minor have strengthened England's position and weakened France's in that sphere. France, in fact, is powerless to initiate any anti-English policy in Silesia. She cannot risk a breach with England for the sake of Poland, as it would annul the victory conferred upon her by the treaty of Versailles.

"But if Silesia were neutralized, then the interests of France on the val power and having sunk there, might never be able to recover.

We should exist as a great Power in the world only by suffering," Churchill continued. "We have never done that yet. Profound peace might continue to rule in the world for many years, but, during that peace everyone would know Great Britain's day was done. Everywhere it would be known that the essential foundation of the British Empire had been erased and that this island, depending for four-fifths of its food and the whole of its economic wealth and being as a modern state upon sea-borne commerce, was powerless to keep itself alive, except by good will. That would be a melancholy sequel to the great wars.

Reference to U. S. Program.

Alluding to the building programs of the United States and Japan, Col. Amery argued that the Admiralty, by proposing the completion of only these four ships by 1925, was laying itself open to the charge of accepting the risk that the British navy would temporarily be inferior to the navies of the other Powers, and the Government was facing this risk in order to avoid any step tending to invite fresh competition on the eve of a conference for disarmament.

Contending that there was no element of challenge or provocation in this policy of replacing obsolete ships, he said it was simply a policy circumscribed within the narrowest limits and postponed to the very latest date consistent with the empirical safety.

One-Power Standard.

The American's statement was followed by an animated discussion involving many references to the relative positions of Great Britain, the United States and Japan, and revealing the intense interest taken in the proposed Washington conference.

LAWYER SUES CONTRACTOR FOR $50,000.
A suit for $50,000 against J. W. Thompson, a general contractor of St. Louis, has been filed in the United States District Court yesterday by Thomas B. Love, an attorney of Dallas, Tex., who alleges this amount is due for services given during the war at Washington and elsewhere on behalf of Thompson's building operations. This work was done, he said, in connection with the building of army cantonments.

THE unprecedented popularity of the NEW LIGHT-SIX can be traced to the fact that it represents a degree of automobile value that the public has sought for years. It is built complete in the great Studebaker factories in South Bend. And the best indication of its real worth today, is to be found in the fact that, in the first six months of 1921, Studebaker (with the exception of one manufacturer of a well known and very low-priced car) produced and sold more cars than any other manufacturer in the country.

SUBSCRIPTION BOOK

PUBLICATION MERGER

Collier's Takes Over That Part of the Business of Harper Bros. of New York.

By Leased Wire From the New York
Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—It is announced that P. F. Collier & Son Co., publishers, and Harper Bros. of Franklin Square, have just formed a merger, as the result of which the Collier & Son Co. will hereafter publish the subscription editions of Mark Twain, Woodrow Wilson, James Whitcomb Riley and others, consolidating the subscription book business of the Harper Bros.

Harper & Bros. are going out of the set book business only, relinquishing their service in this particular on such books as are sold by agents and on the installment plan, and receiving on all their sets of books a royalty, as an author does from Collier's.

The merger arrangement was announced by President George D. Buckley of the Collier & Son Co. and by Clinton T. Brainerd, president of Harper & Bros.

In his life Mark Twain was accounted a poor business man. This charge is not borne out by the business arrangement made before his death, under which his works are published for the benefit of his estate. Last year there was paid in royalties by the Harpers to the estate a sum equal to the interest at 6 per cent on $1,400,000.

As a result of the new move the Collier & Son Co. will hereafter control the subscription book business of both parties to the merger.

Harper & Bros. will continue to publish Harper's Magazine.

POLICE HAVE POSSESSION OF S60 FOUND BY BOY FEB. 19

If Money Is Not Claimed at Expiration of Year It Will Be Given to the Finder.

Whoever dropped $60 in Mrs. Herman Schneider's bakery at 1555 Fallon Street Feb. 19 will have until Feb. 19 next year to claim it and identify it. The law authorizes the police to hold it that long. After that, if not claimed, it will go to the finder.

Robert Mohrmann Jr., 9 years old, found the money lying in front of the bakery counter. He showed it to Mrs. Schneider and she said a customer I. Babby had dropped it and would call for it, so she would take care of it.

The boy told his father, who went to the bakery and demanded the money. Mrs. Schneider refused to give it up. She advertised for the owner but he did not appear. Mohrmann renewed his demand. They went to Acting Captain Gerik at the Carr Street station, and asked him to decide between them. He decided against both of them, and put the money in the safe.

Yesterday Mohrmann went to Capt. Stinger at the Carr Street station and again demanded the money. Capt. Stinger referred him to Inspector Gerik at headquarters. Gerik looked up the law. He found that it required advertising the find for three weeks and holding it a year after which the finder might claim it. So Mohrmann was told to come back next February.

SOUTHERN HEALTH OFFICIALS
AT CONFERENCE ON PELLAGRA

By the Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—The pellagra situation was discussed in closed session here today at a conference between health officials from a dozen Southern states and Surgeon-General Cummings of the Public Health Service. Some of the State officials said as they entered the conference room that they would dispute any claim that the disease had reached a serious proportion in their territories.

State health officers attending the conference included W. S. Leather, Mississippi; Olin West, Tennessee; C. W. Garrison, Arkansas; S. W. Welch, Alabama, and Oscar Dowling, Louisiana. J. P. Folan, Assistant Health Commissioner of Oklahoma, and W. F. Cogswell, health officer of Montana, also attended.

Representatives of the Red Cross, including H. J. Jones, director of the Southwestern division, and Harry L. Hopkins, manager of the Southern division, three experts from the Department of Agriculture, and a dozen public health service officials, Dr. Joseph Goldberger, pellagra expert, also participated in the discussions.

AUSTRALIA WITHDRAWS FROM EMPIRE COMMUNICATIONS PLAN

By the Associated Press

LONDON, Aug. 4.—Australia has withdrawn from the scheme of empire communications adopted by the wireless committee of the Imperial conference, but has promised to cooperate with the other British Dominions in carrying out the plan which has been adopted by the committee. It was reported here last night that the plan was evolved following a discussion of communications between England and Australia, or at least, a system with only one relay, would be possible. He intends to leave the Australian Parliament free to adopt any scheme, controlled either privately or by the state, Australia undertaking the financial responsibility.

Under the present scheme there would be four or five relays of dispatches before Australia would receive them, and Premier Hughes declared that direct communication between England and Australia, or at least, a system with only one relay, would be possible. He intends to leave the Australian Parliament free to adopt any scheme, controlled either privately or by the state, Australia undertaking the financial responsibility.

Make it of Muslin

You won't have to bargain-hunt if you plan to make garments and household things of Fruit of the Loom.

It is easy to sew on, gives long service, and launders perfectly.

For over seventy years it has been the same high-quality muslin, always sold at a reasonable price.

Fruit of the Loom Muslin

You will find the 36-inch width most economical for making aprons, pillow cases, pajamas, nightshirts, men's shirts, underskirts, rompers, and other articles.

There are a number of articles such as sheets, pajamas, nightshirts, men's and boys' shirts, that you can get all ready-made of Fruit of the Loom. And they are made by reliable manufacturers, whose workmanship you can depend on.

Ask for Fruit of the Loom by name and look for the label, both on the bolt and in ready-made articles. It means satisfaction.

NEW ATTACK ON U. R. RECEIVERSHIP FILED

J. W. Seaman Alleges Danger of Foreclosure by the Suburban Bondholders.

Another motion to set aside the receivership of the United Railways Co., as at present established under the suit filed by Samuel W. Adler, a bondholder, an to appoint a receiver or receivers under the pending suit of John W. Seaman, a stockholder, was filed in the United States District Court yesterday afternoon by Ephraim Caplan, John S. Leahy and Walter H. Saunders, attorneys. Caplan filed the original and amended receivership suits for Seaman.

The United States Court of Appeals about a year ago overruled the consolidation of the Adler and Seaman suits and ordered that the receivership stand under the Adler bill.

Another Motion Pending.
Caplan last March filed a motion to dissolve the Adler bill receivership under which Rolla Wells is the receiver, and to base the receivership on the Seaman bill. This motion is still pending. In it Caplan alleged that the Court was without jurisdiction in the Adler case and that the Adler suit was the result of collusion between Adler and officers of the United Railways Co., to prevent a thorough investigation of the conduct of the company's affairs.

In his motion filed yesterday the only new allegation made is that the present receiver has permitted bonds of the St. Louis & Suburban Co. to be in default and that because of the doubtful legal standing of Receiver Wells under the Adler bill he has been unable to obtain funds to redeem or extend the defaulted bonds.

Danger of Foreclosure Alleged.

The petition says that there is grave danger of foreclosure by the Suburban bondholders with consequent passing of the Suburban system from United Railways control. The right-of-way of the Suburban, now known as the Hodiamont system, from Vandeventer avenue to the city limits is owned by the United Railways Co. The petition says this right-of-way would in time be most desirable for an elevated road or a subway and should not be permitted to pass from the hands of the United Railways Co.

ARKANSAS MINISTER TO BE TRIED SEPT. 12 IN KILLING OF WOMAN

Change of Venue From Mount Ida Denied the Rev. H. W. Hughes, Prisoner for 10 Weeks.

MOUNT IDA, Ark., Aug. 4.—Judge Scott Wood this morning refused to grant a motion for a change of venue in the case of the Rev. Hardin W. Hughes, indicted yesterday on a charge of first degree murder for the death last May of Mrs. Anna McKeon, 54 years old, whose land near here was reputed to contain valuable mineral deposits. Trial was set for Sept. 12.

Hughes, who is 63 years old, and a suspended minister, was indicted on three counts. One of them charged him with the murder of Mrs. McKeon, while the others charge him with being an accessory before and after the murder.

The minister was brought to Mount Ida late yesterday from Hot Springs, where he has been confined for the last 10 weeks. His motion for a change of venue was based on the contention that he could not receive a fair trial in Montgomery County because of the feeling against him.

New York Candy Firm Cuts Prices.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—A reduction of 33 1/3 per cent in candy prices was announced yesterday by George W. Loft, Inc., one of the largest chain store candy firms in the city. This cut follows closely after that of another large retail firm, the president of which announced that his firm, along with several others in the candy business, had been making 300 per cent profit. Coincident with the announcement of reduced prices it was learned that the wages of the Loft employees would be reduced 12 1/2 per cent.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Noise.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
LET'S get together in making St. Louis a better place in which to live by concentrating on its worst evils—unnecessary noise, especially during the night.

The useless barking dog, the early milkman, with his clinking bottles, his "whoos and pif-paps," who has no regard for his fellow-man; the crowing rooster, braying donkey, blowing whistles, ringing bells, etc. Give the man and woman who must be at work at 8 a. m. or earlier an opportunity to get the required sleep to fit them for their duties.

B. CONSIDERATE.

Would Pardon War Prisoners.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
In reference to an article published in your paper of July 20, 1921, J. G.

Emery, national commander of the American Legion, wired a protest to President W. Harding opposing the pardon of E. V. Debs and other war prisoners and assured the President that no action the administration could take would draw the fire of ex-service men more promptly or unitedly than the pardon of E. V. Debs. I believe J. G. Emery, by his assertion, is doing an injustice to the millions of ex-service men who are not members of the American Legion. I, for one, and numerous other ex-service men, favor the immediate pardon of E. V. Debs and other war prisoners.

Movie Improvements.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
I SHOULD like to ask why there is not a law requiring moving picture houses to make the following improvements. Require the arms of all seats in theaters to be in one solid piece and extend past the knees and to the floor, in order to protect women patrons from the insults of masher.

Require sufficient space in front of all seats for people to pass without the necessity of the seated patrons getting up and losing part of the show.

Require all theaters to have their windows and doors open and plenty of fresh and artificial air during the whole performance and at all seasons, especially during the summer months.

E. F. K.

The 25-Cent Seats.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
AS ONE of the enthusiastic spectators of the opera last Sunday evening, I wondered why there were but three people sitting in 25-cent seats. There was an immense crowd in front of that section. The free seats were mostly set in the aisles; many stood up during the whole opera. And yet those seats remained practically empty. Aren't they worth 25 cents more than the free seats? Why not make them free next season?

OPERA FAN.

She Can Bake Pies.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
"MISSOURIAN" must be a man, because "Pies like mother used to bake" is a typical masculine expression. I never knew that you ever could get "pies like mother used to bake" at any bakery or restaurant in St. Louis or elsewhere. But you can get a wife that can bake, and every other good mother used to make and I always use nutmeg flavoring. I'm from Missouri, too.

BRUNNETTE.

Youth and Old Age.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
WHY do so many of our old men pose as "boys"? Why do they feel flattered by being called "boys"? One would think the yelling, the giggling and the silly and senseless chatter in the pandemonium all around them would make them feel glad they were old; glad that they were no longer classed with that element. As long as they are physically fit to provide for themselves and mentally fit to enjoy life, it should not be a compliment to anybody to be called young. Rather, it should be a mark of distinction to be classed among those who are at the guy ropes, holding the old world steady, to keep it from being turned upside down by giddy and hare-brained youth. Old age has nothing to envy in youth but its strength, and that is not important; and is the intellectual part of the human being which gets most of the enjoyment out of life.

ERNEST DEBERTSHAUSER, Cottleville, Mo.

Wholesale Pie Prices.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
I WONDER if anyone is cognizant of the fact that our wholesale pie bakers are still charging top prices for their pies? They are getting the same prices as during the war. Is this condition fair? Sugar is down from 30 cents a pound to 6½ cents; flour and lard and tinware down in proportion. And, allowing that their labor is the same, they should do as other manufacturers are doing, come down to a fair price. We restaurant keepers have all cut prices and will cut further if some of our costs are put down as we can.

J. SKICK.

GOVERNMENT'S INCAPACITY.

Government's ineptitude for business is rather ludicrously demonstrated by the ruling of the Interstate Commerce Commission on an application of Henry Ford to reduce the freight rates on stone between two Michigan points. The explanation given is that the commission's regulations will not permit such action. It seems that Ford reduced the rate on this commodity on July 26 and the regulations require an interval of 30 days before reductions.

The incident is welcome. Its naivete is refreshing. Its guilelessness is beguiling. Theory supercedes condition. Regulations take precedence over rates. Rules are sacrosanct and must be preserved inviolate and inviolable, though industry languishes.

Mr. Ford's experience is not new in principle. Its novelty is a matter of direction. Requests as to rate changes have, generally speaking, been ascending. Even so, that is no proof of iniquity. But that apart, business finds Government a difficult partner. The inertia of commissions or bureaus is irksome. More, His plan won't do.

The congressional politicians will try again. They will seek diligently for a scheme of taxation which will take money from taxpayers without letting them know that their pockets are being picked and making them think that the other fellow's pocket is being picked. It's a hard task and will cause much sweating in Washington and subsequently much swearing throughout the country.

Congress and the administration have gone at the problem in the wrong way. Instead of hitting the taxpayers they should hit the $4,600,000,000. They should reduce the numerator of expenses instead of raising the denominator of taxation.

There is no relief for the people in shifting or revising taxation. Certainly revision is necessary to equitable and practical taxes, but reduction is the essential thing to satisfy the taxpayers. Economy is imperative. Reduce the outgo to fit the income—slash expenditures, cut down all unnecessary expenses. Take the Government out of costly business. Shut off its paternalistic indulgences. Stop trying to regulate everything and everybody with costly hordes of regulators. Cut down the civil army until the military forces can be reduced. It is preposterous that three years after the war the people of the United States, suffering from industrial and commercial depression due to the war, should pay $4,600,000,000 to run the Government. The cost of extravagance is hardship and poverty.

The process of painless extraction of taxes has not yet been discovered.

Ford ran over the Interstate Commerce Commission traffic signals.

Some young men who might otherwise be sowing their wild oats are now busy making corn mashes.

VICE OF PATERNALISM.

Each passing day adds new and diverting features to the tragic-comedy of errors which mark the efforts of the citizens of St. Louis County to get at the bottom of the liquor situation there. Originally Sheriff Willmann was accused by fellow officials of dereliction in enforcing the law against "moonshining." Now come still other officials, as well as citizens, to accuse the first accusers of being themselves guilty of marketing the product of the stills which the original accusers accused the Sheriff of failing to suppress.

It is entirely too fresh and too vivid in the mind of the average fan to be entirely obliterated by the legal finding.

The character of the State's witnesses may not have been such as to favorably impress the jurors, but the fact remains that their testimony agreed, in important particulars, with what actually happened. There may not have been convincing evidence that the players violated the laws of the State of Illinois—evidently the jurors thought not—but there certainly was enough to prove that they violated all the rules and ethics of fair play, fidelity and good sportsmanship. Technicality prevailed over fact.

Plainly, from his statement, this is the opinion held by Judge Landis, the official arbiter, and, almost as certainly, it is the feeling of the real arbiters, the fans. The Judge is right. Keep these men out of baseball.

What a refreshing spectacle for the taxpayers who furnish the salaries of all these officials—accusers and accused, of the first, second and third parts! And what a commentary on the state of affairs that follows the efforts of a short-sighted minority to regulate the personal tastes and habits of the unorganized but rebellious majority! The situation is an instructive lesson in the vices of paternalism.

There are always new worlds to conquer. The quest of the North Pole did not end with its discovery. Now they are going to fly over it. The next thing may be an effort to bomb it from the air or control it by wireless.

FIFTY-FIFTY AMONG MOTORISTS.

When Hugo Mitzache and Charles Mueller, out taking the air in their automobiles the other night, had a collision at Russell and Jefferson avenues, everything was propitious for a fight and a lawsuit and lawyers' fees and court costs and the devil to pay generally. But nothing of the kind happened. When a policeman arrived they told him they had talked it over and had decided that they were equally to blame and were going to split 50-50 on the damages and it would not be necessary to arrest anybody. The policeman wrote a report and the incident was closed.

All automobile owners and drivers will please take notice. There is need for more of this 50-50 spirit among motorists. There is plenty of the kind, which undertakes to place all the blame for every misadventure upon the other driver. Not in all automobile accidents, but in a great many, there is negligence on both sides and if equal blame were acknowledged and equal damages assumed by the participants, even and exact justice would not be greatly cheated.

There are, of course, reckless and criminally careless drivers, who are a menace to all other drivers and all pedestrians, but the great majority of drivers consider their own safety and the safety of others. The streets are crowded, but there is room for all. Until they find a way to make the ocean dry strong drink will continue to come in schooners.

AND HE WANTS TO MANAGE THE WORLD.

Chicago News.

DARK CHAMBER METHODS.

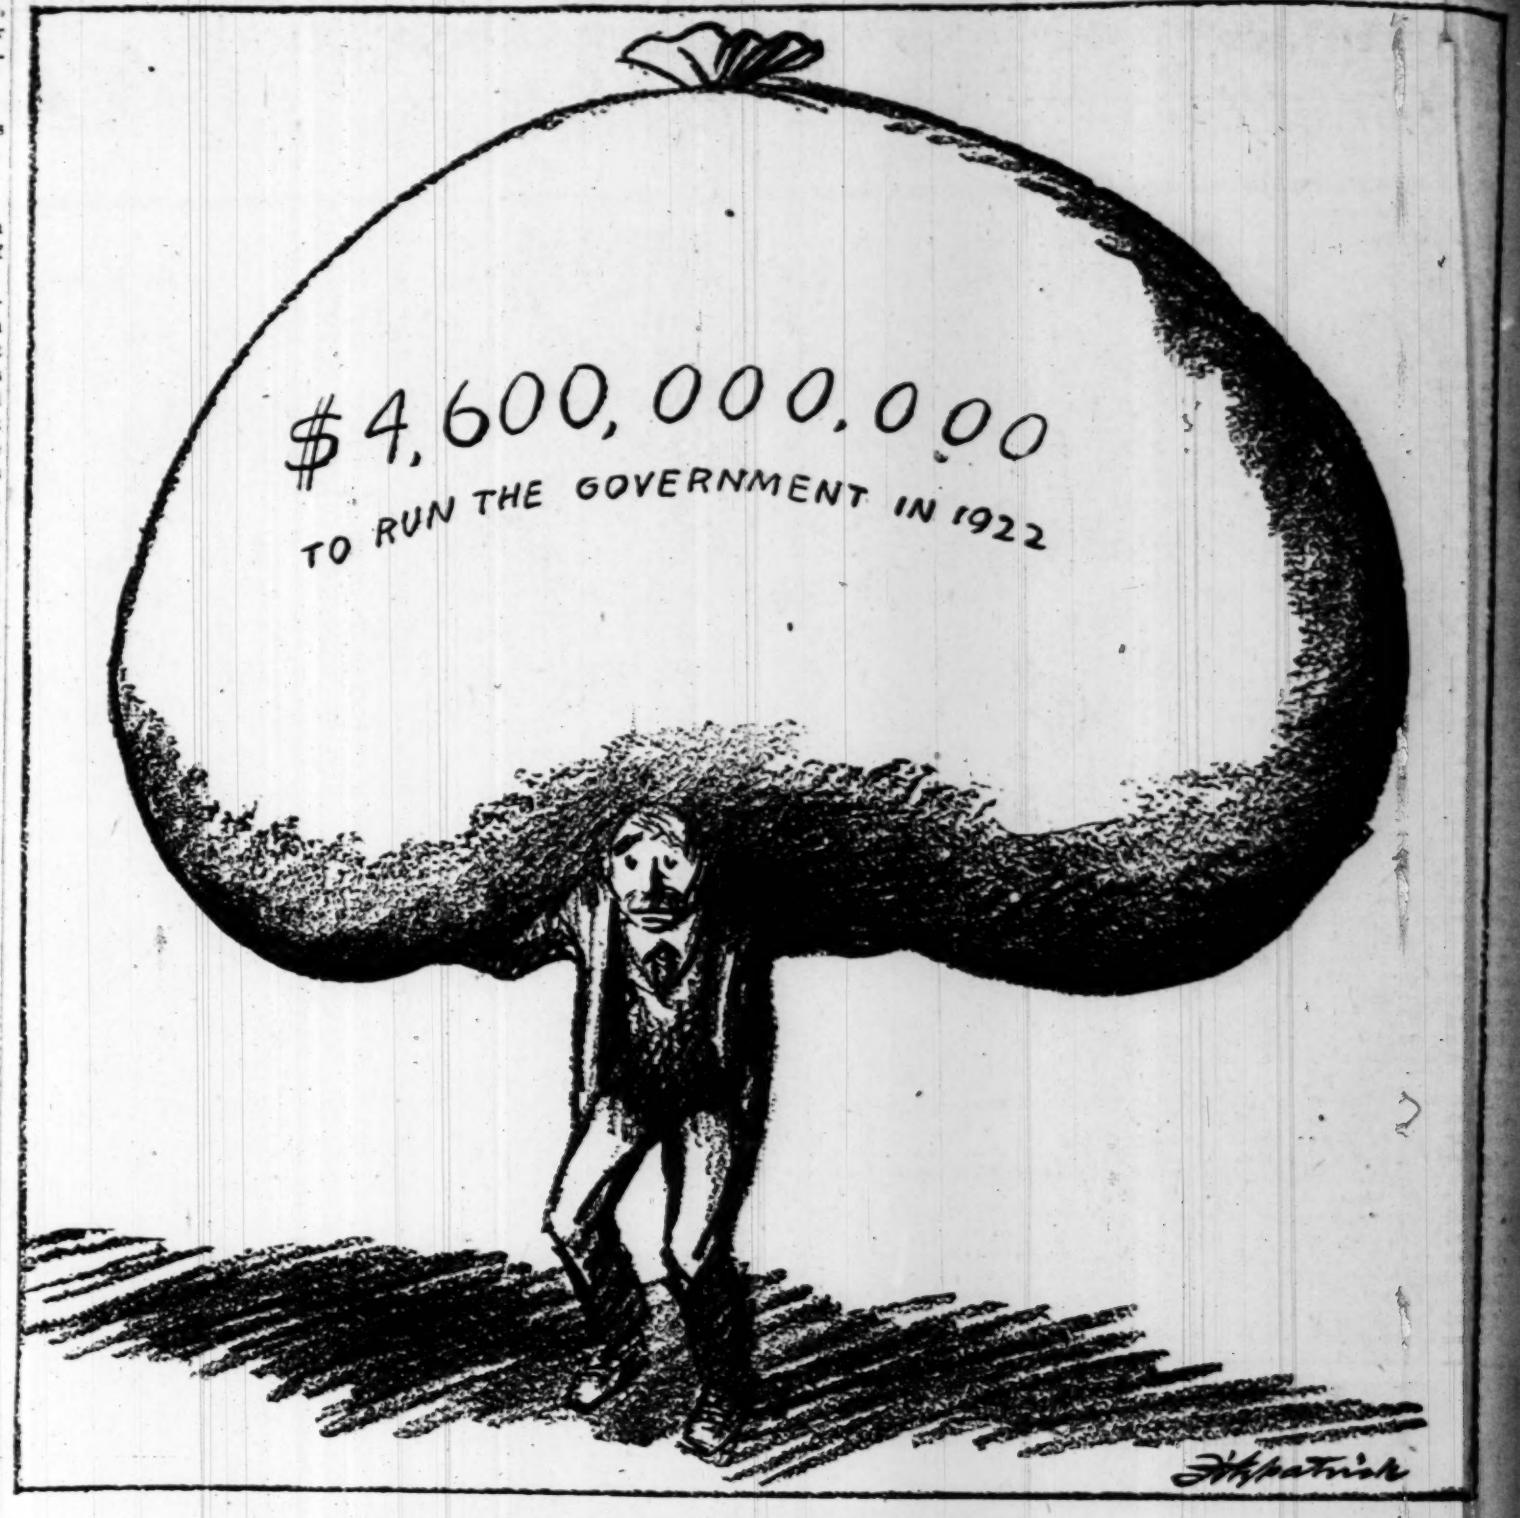

The public protest that followed the announcement of the East St. Louis Park Board's intention to purchase a large tract of land at a price which has been denounced as exorbitant, and which, at least one member of the board has characterized as unjustifiable, emphasizes once more the folly and danger of a practice which has got many another municipal official into trouble. That's the practice of determining upon important official acts without first apprising the taxpayers.

The situation here, as in other such cases, was very simple. If the land was necessary, and the price reasonable, then the board had nothing to fear from acquainting the public with its contemplated move. Failure to do so always makes the public suspicious, and justly so. The people never will be satisfied with official conduct which consists of making decisions in the dark and announcing the result afterward.

The tax man is coming back to see if he forgot anything.

It may be news to some that there are 60,721 automobiles in St. Louis, but the traffic policeman at Twelfth and Locust street knew it all the time.

Until they find a way to make the ocean dry strong drink will continue to come in schooners.

MR. ANTWHITE'S OPINION.

"HERE is a point in the course of reconstruction at which we seem to stick for want of not being able to think ourselves past it," Mr. Antwhite said.

"This is price. We all think we were not making enough profit before the war, and we hope to be reconstructed on a somewhat higher level. Business halts here with great stubbornness. So does labor. The farmer has tried to do the same thing, but since he is unique in having his prices fixed for him he has not been able to do it.

"The impression that we can re-establish ourselves at a level of greater profit to ourselves than we have customarily enjoyed probably arises from the fact that this has been done from time to time. What we do not appreciate is that it is not the same time quite like our.

We are told that competition is compelling it to cut prices again, but the greater likelihood is that the steel Trust knows the great harvest to be over. THESE HARDING TIMES.

(Sikeston, Mo. Standard)

Citizens of Zeta, Mo., while watching a north-bound freight train pass through the city counted 125 men on the train stealing rides.

It is thought that the men were going north to look for work.

They were seen riding to every part of the cars. It is said some riding the rods, while others sat boldly on top of the cars.

Frederick O'Brien tells in his "Mystic Isles of the South Seas" of a Russian whom he met on Tahiti. He found the gentleman, who has an American wife, living on one of the innumerable little coves that are beautiful in isolation.

That is the simplicity which Pastor Wagner and Col. Roosevelt urged upon us all. The household budget was $16 per month. They had sea food, fruits and vegetables. Their home was built half on land and half over water. The scene from the porch was one of the most fascinating in the Pacific. Books and periodicals consumed most of the family excess.

To this man the United States, which could produce Rockefeller and Morgan, is something of a phenomenon. They would like to come here, neither feeling very useful in Tahiti; but it is too early for anyone to urge reason upon us while we are insensible of the weight of the 2 per cent. So there they are—waiting. We are glad they have such a nice place in which to wait, because it is going to be a while. If you doubt it, read the articles by Vice President Coolidge now running in the Defender. They are about reds. The Vice President finds the woods full of them. They are in even such schools as Radcliffe, Vassar, Wellesley. All great universities are filled with radicals. Indeed, he doubts it wherever there is thought—and people will think. We wish Little Cal could do it. The gulf between his mind and that of the clear-thinking man on Tahiti is wider than the Pacific; but do not despair, gentle reader: we shall get across somehow. We must do it, else the 2 per cent be come in time the 1 per cent, then the one-half—and then some Colossus who would, truly, bestride the world.

Work and Worry Are Bad Team Mates.

(Copyright, 1921.)
If you must worry, don't work at the same time. Work and worry are bad team mates. They pull in opposite directions, which makes progress impossible.

Far better not to worry at all, but well tell a man not to grieve as not to worry.

Unless you are singularly free from nerves, worry will come to you and will not be put off.

But when the worrying time comes postpone work. Devote your time to your worry till you get rid of it, which you usually will.

But never undertake an important task on whose outcome your future in any way depends while you are worrying about anything under the sun.

Mental hazards in golf illustrate the impossibility of worry and accomplishment in the same second.

The player who is worrying about the difficulty of jumping a water hazard or a ravine, thinks about that and forgets how to make the stroke.

He lands as a result with a plop! in the water or with a chug! in the ravine.

Even an experienced bookkeeper cannot add up a column of figures if his mind is on some trouble that monopolizes it.

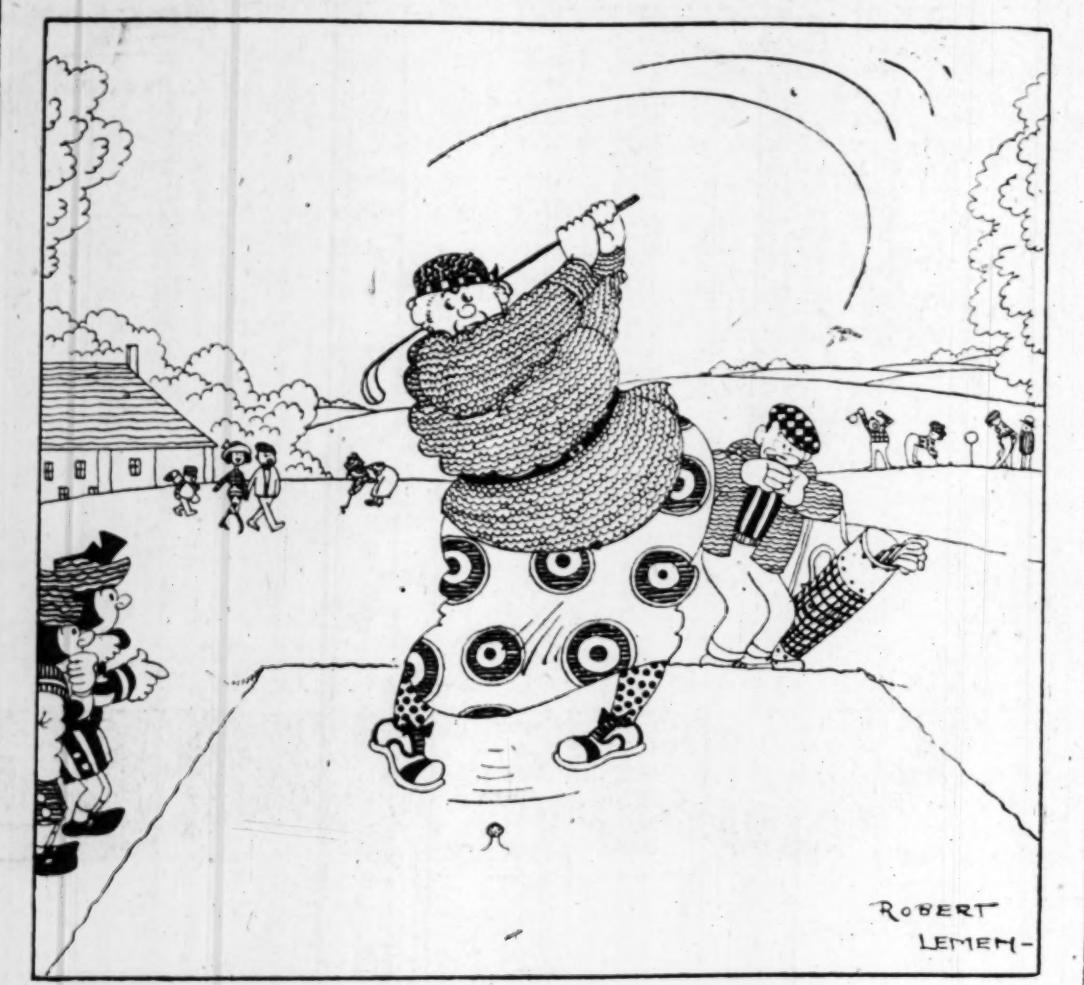

The mechanical adding machine, which cannot worry, never makes a mistake.

If you have troubles you must naturally think about them, and try to solve them. But make that a separate department of your daily task.

If you find them "lodging in" your regular work, liven them if possible, and get absorbed in what you are doing that you will forget them for the time.

Then buckle into the job and get it done.

If that is impossible knock off al-

THE SOCIAL CLIMBER

By Sophie Irene Loeb

She had one aim in life, one ambition—to shine in the social scheme. And every move she made had but one purpose.

Even when a little girl she gloried in the town that she wore.

When it outshone that of her neighborhood.

So she lived and moved and had her being in the one thought.

Or how to gain another rung on the flimsy ladder of fame she coveted.

And so she grew to calculate and fight ever; friendship before? It was made.

Her words were studied and her mind was marshalled.

To do and dare with perfect precision.

And the years rolled by.

And there was a sister of opposite men.

Who preferred not the glare of the limelight.

Nor the machinations and maneuverings of the other.

She it was who found solace in the sea.

In the sigh of the wind, and in all nature that spoke to her—

A beautiful language.

To her there was joy in simple things.

Like a few friends, but true.

She was in touch with the masters of the printed page.

And hours were filled with useful work.

Thus happiness and contentment were hers.

No fears, no worries that someone would precede her.

In some social atmosphere.

There was an atmosphere of nature and things natural.

Came the day when she who was scaling the heights reached them.

And believed she could hold the dizzy pinnacle.

But alas! and alack! social climbers always replaced

By others who have more to spend in splendor and display,

And her fall was complete, as usual.

So at last she turned to this sister who lived and laughed and loved.

And there, even in the bitterness of spirit, she learned the truth—

That the greatest mountain tops are reared in the spirit of the soul.

In the real of peace, in simplicity and solitude.

And not in the artificial heights.

That comes with the social climb—trying to outdo.

together or employ yourself on routine matters which require little mental effort. These can sometimes be attended to, even if worry is harnessed with work. They will not be done well, but they can be done. For the big job, however, you need concentration, which means the centering of all your mental faculties on it. Trying to do it when you are harassed or annoyed or afraid is utterly beyond you. The worry will butt in, and the task might as well have been left undone as far as results are concerned.

A Short Story in Five Daily Installments

(Copyright, 1921.)

FOURTH INSTALLMENT.
“WELLA, Dennis,” says Mr. King, “this puts me in a mighty embarrassing position. You see I was suffering from shell shock and acute melancholia at the thought of being a paralytic the rest of my days, so I made up my mind to get overboard. The ship who was going full speed ahead; and I got a violent wrench as I struck the water. That must have done something to my dorsal vertebra to relieve the pressure on the cord, as I began to get back the use of my legs immediately.”

“Oh, come!” says Mr. Dennis. “That couldn’t have happened in a second, so that you could start right in to swim.”

“Of course not. I had on one of those patent inflation vests—for safety but for warmth, and when I swam me against the rail, it must have been the inflator, as the thing puffed up and floated me. I drifted around all night, and the next morning these chaps came along in Sir Harry’s little yacht, and picked me up. Sir Harry explained their errand and offered to let me in on it, but I thought it was all bunk and demanded to be put ashore at Colon.”

“You see, Mr. MacGuire,” said Sir Harry to Mr. Dennis, “we were dead certain that Don Edmundo had the real dope, as you Yankees say, and we considered the game too big to risk the Columbian authorities getting wind of it and ferreting us out. So we just carried King along, knowing that, if he did, nobody would be the wiser.”

Here a frank man, was Sir Harry, and one could not help but admire his nerve. Mr. King went on with his tale.

“And where is your vessel?” I asked.

“She’s probably high and dry by this time up a little backwater off the creek you came up—just a fast sea-going motor boat about 100-foot waterline. You see, we’re stuck here until the next rains, despite Brother Ignacio’s warnings.”

“And what are they?” asked Mr. Dennis, himself a good Catholic.

“Not to stick on after the water in the lake falls to a certain level. According to his statement the water all seeps out and leaves a flat puddle of ooze that poisons the whole place, so that not even mosquito can live and there’s no retreat in any direction because of the swamp on all sides.”

“Then if I were in your place and from what I have seen of it, I should strongly recommend you to the letter, sir,” said I.

“Just hang it all, Andy,” says Mr. King, “we’ve only just been able to get to the gold. The dump is in a hole and covered with water except in the dry season, and at the rate the water’s falling it should reach the danger level within a few days.”

“But have you not already enough for the time bein’, sir?” I asked, pecked up Cheffy and his two mates right off the river mouth and brought them along, too, for fear of their wising up the Columbians that a strange vessel had designs on their swamp. Cheffy didn’t like it any more than I did, especially as he said no man could live here after the dry season set in. I made friends with Cheffy  and when he told me that he meant to beat it—

“Hold on, old top!” Sir Harry interrupted. “You might tell them how you happened to win the heart of this simple speckled child of nature. Cheffy fell into a quicksand, while he and King were working alone together—for King was very choosy at first, and preferred Cheffy’s society to ours. King made fast the end of a line to a tree and went in after Cheffy and got him out—just did get him out.”

“Well, anyhow,” said King, “I found the key to Cheffy’s secret speech, and made him understand what I wanted him to do when he beat it. I gave him a letter to you, Dennis, but he had it stolen from him with a couple of nuggets. Just after he got the water went down and we found the hole in which was the dump, and a few days later were able to work it. I changed my mind about the business then, and asked Sir Harry to reconsider his first offer, which, like a good chap, he did.”

“But however did you learn about this place?” I asked Sir Harry.

“Enter Don Edmundo,” said Sir Harry, “who had got hold of the records of an ancestor of his, a Jesuit priest, who found his way up here, about 200 years ago. His reverence appears to have made the spiritual conquest of the Indians who were working the diggings and trading their nuggets at the mouth of the river with the Spaniards. Single-handed he put the fear of God in the hearts of the whole tribe and established a mission here and built this kraal, and generally administered the business for their good and that of the Church of Rome.”

“And where did you fall in with Don Edmundo?” I asked.

“We took him off a Spanish ship, which had hit a mine.”

“And where is your vessel?” I asked.

“She’s probably high and dry by this time up a little backwater off the creek you came up—just a fast sea-going motor boat about 100-foot waterline. You see, we’re stuck here until the next rains, despite Brother Ignacio’s warnings.”

“And what are they?” asked Mr. Dennis, himself a good Catholic.

“Not to stick on after the water in the lake falls to a certain level. According to his statement the water all seeps out and leaves a flat puddle of ooze that poisons the whole place, so that not even mosquito can live and there’s no retreat in any direction because of the swamp on all sides.”

to the place, the colony had evidently dispersed.

No doubt but that Brother Ignacio had intended to entrust the secret to some member of his family, though why not to “The Company of Jesus” one may only surmise. In it he had not only minutely indicated the location of the gold, but the dangers of the spot and given an urgent warning that no man or beast could bide there alive after the level of the lake had reached a certain broad expanse of white quartz in the side of the rock. As I understood it the stratum of miasma rose in a certain fixed proportion to the fallin’ of the water, and by this the holy man had calculated that when the water had fallen to a certain level after the water had sunk below his gauge the marsh poison must inundate the little knoll. Thereafter all escape was cut off by the ooze of the lake and the encircling swamp of like nature which had no water on which to paddle nor solid stuff through which to wade.

In his document the Jesuit had laid solemn injunction on whoever might profit by the treasure that he must render a full half of it to the Church of Rome, under pain of a curse which he had laid upon the place, and by which he who worked with it must die.

Now Don Edmundo had never entertained a doubt of all this, and it had been his intention to fit out one of his small ships and go seek the treasure, for the Jesuit had said that there must be a great store of it in the dump. But he had no funds and was depending on the profits of this voyage when he had been mined, to furnish them. His captain was a dastardly relative, a man who he did not greatly trust, but a good one, though he had taken him on in his confidence, the night they entered the Channel, and, when the explosion came, he did not go to his room to fetch the documents, having memorized it. It was a moonlight night and, as he was shovin’ off in his mate’s boat, he saw the skipper come on deck with what he was almost willing to swear was the roll of parchment in his hand. The boats scattered and at dawn Don Edmundo had been picked up by Sir Harry, for whom he came to conceive a friendship and perfect trust.

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY

By James J. Montague.

THE GATE
Wistful little eight-year-old.
Stretching out your hand
To where the sun gleam red and gold
In far-off Grown-Up Land.
Long and weary seems the way,
Much too hard for you.
Heavy drags each passing day
Till your dream comes true.

Yet far sooner than you know
Time will pass you by,
Years will swift and swifter go,
Days will fairly fly,
Soon you will pensively stand
On the winding track
That has led to Grown-Up Land—
Looking fondly back.

Then the skies will not be fair
As today they seem,
Not a shadow anywhere
Of your golden dream:
Through the days and troubled nights
You are going to find
Grown-Up Land has no delights
Like you left behind.

As I watch the rainbow fade
Where your sky looms blue,
Very gladly would I trade
Lands and you with you.
You a fleeting time did wait
Ere my land you see,
You may enter through my gate
Yours is closed to me!
